V Technical Textiles, Inc.'s Role in Our Country's War Against COVID19

Manufacture and Distribution Antimicrobial Textiles and Personal Protective Equipment

NEWARK, NEW YORK, March 25-Our country, along with all of the rest of the world, is currently in a war against COVID19 and other infectious agents. During this crisis, our country's medical system has been stretched to the limit of its supplies of face masks, disinfecting wipes, and other crucial medical supplies.

New York's Governor, Andrew Cuomo, has asked established industries to retool their production in an effort to try to eliminate this deficit, much like what was done by industry during World War II to support the war effort.

VTT is currently putting aside some of our "normal " business production to help fight this threat to our country. Silver has long been known as one of the most effective ways of eliminating infectious agents from surfaces. VTT distributes silver containing cotton jersey that has recently been deemed acceptable for face masks, scrubs, and disinfecting wipes. We are currently using our design, cut, and sew facilities to design and produce a face mask of silverized cotton jersey material with excellent fit and coverage of the face. These masks are currently being distributed to the health care providers and facilities that are currently treating people infected with COVID19.

Additionally, we are continuing to supply the cotton jersey material and other specialty medical conductive textiles to companies that use them to fabricate similar cleansing and medical monitoring products. At this time, we are asking your continued cooperation in social distancing, basic hand hygiene, and anything that will slow the spread of this virus, giving health professionals the opportunity to provide optimum care for the victims of this Pandemic. Thank you and stay well!!
